Crowe UK has used Egress Secure Workspace as its secure file sharing platform since 2015. They chose to work with Egress as they needed a solution that was straightforward to use, centrally managed, and cloud-based. From day one though, security has remained Crowe UK's top priority, particularly when it comes to sharing sensitive data internally and with clients.

Secure Workspace allows Crowe UK's people to stay productive and keep sensitive data safe with its encrypted collaborative environment for sharing and storing files of any size. Inevitably, a key factor for Crowe UK when selecting Secure Workspace over other file sharing applications was Egress' reputation of providing the highest levels of security and assurance.

Since onboarding their first users in 2015, Crowe UK has now licensed their entire business unit of 1,000+ people for Secure Workspace, and its use with approximately 90% of their external clients means they have an average of 12,000 active internal and external users.

The Egress product team worked closely with Crowe UK from the start to ensure they had the features they needed to stay productive and secure. Being an Egress customer also benefitted Crowe UK when adjusting to remote working during the COVID-19 pandemic, as they already had a mature and proven product, rather than having to rapidly source a new solution.
